Business Report
(January 1, 2022 through December 31, 2022)

1. Present Status of the Corporate Group

(1) Status of Business for the Current Consolidated Business Year

① Progress and Result of Business

In the Japanese economy of this consolidated fiscal year, the business cycle has improved although the slowdown in recovery of production by the rise of domestic corporate goods prices due to the historically rate weak yen and soaring prices of natural resources affected by the situation in Ukraine.

As for the global economy, in the United States, although the economy continues to recover gradually, there are concerns about downside risks due to the effects of monetary tightening. In China, the effects of the resurgence of infections have led to signs of a slowdown in recovery. In ASEAN, Indonesia is recovering moderately, and new car sales were strong, led by the stronger sales promotions and the easing of shortage of parts. The economy in Thailand also recovered, and Malaysia continued a gradual recovery led by domestic demand, although the expansion of production slowed down due to factors such as the global slowdown in demand of semiconductors.

The automotive industry, to which the company group belongs, the number of automobiles produced in Japan remained at about the same level as the previous year due to the impact of parts supply constraints etc. caused by activity restrictions by the Chinese government. The production volume in China increased slightly in comparison with the last year, and, with respect to the production volume in ASEAN, Malaysia and Indonesia have a significant growth in comparison with the last year, resulting in a significant increase in comparison with the last year in three countries total including Thailand.

Under such an environment, in the current consolidated fiscal year, the rate of increase/decrease in net sales for the Company on a non-consolidated basis was slightly lower than the domestic market, which is our core market. However, the increase rate of sales of 3 ASEAN subsidiaries significantly exceeded the market growth rate of the market in 3 ASEAN countries due to the launch of the overseas new products, etc.

As a result that the sales increase rate of aggregate of sales by our subsidiaries in 3 countries in ASEAN exceeded the increase rate in the market of 3 countries in ASEAN, the sales increased to 135,451 million yen (up 7.9% compared to the previous year) on a consolidated basis. Despite cost reductions and productivity improvements, the operating income was 3,937 million yen (down 29.2% compared to the previous year) due to soaring raw material and energy prices and the impact of exchange rates, etc. The ordinary income was 5,351 million yen (down 17.8% compared to the previous year) even with the income from affiliated companies under equity method of 1,575 million yen, etc., and the net income attributable to the parent company increased to 4,423 million yen (up 11.1% compared to the previous year) due to the recognition of deferred tax assets in an overseas subsidiary and other factors.

Moving to the results by each segment, for Automotive-Parts business, the rate of increase/decrease in net sales for the Company on a non-consolidated basis was slightly lower than the domestic market average, which is our core market. However, the increase rate of sales of 3 ASEAN subsidiaries significantly exceeded the market growth rate of the 3 ASEAN countries due to the effects of the launch of the overseas new products, etc. As a result, the sales of the auto-components business increased to 127,931 million yen (up 8.6% compared to the previous year). Despite cost reductions and productivity improvements, the operating income was 3,460 million yen (down 31.9% year-on-year) due to soaring raw material and energy prices and the impact of exchange rates, etc.

For the after-market business, sales was 9,069 million yen (up 6.4% compared to the previous year) due to strong sales of lighting products, winter wipers, etc. to mass retailers, as well as sales through dealer options and the Internet. The operating income increased to 472 million yen (up 8.7% compared to the previous year) by offsetting the increase in purchasing costs caused by the weaker yen by the profit from the increase in sales.

Regarding the dividends, the Company considers that the achievement of the both (1) improvement of corporate value by using internal reserves to conduct research and development and capital investments, and (2) improvement of profit return to shareholders is the most important issues of the Company. Under this basic policy, as for dividend of FY2022, distribution of midterm dividends was 4.5 yen per share from the perspective of continuous return of profit to shareholders. ## (8) Challenges Facing Ichikoh

The Mission of our Company group is “Create a driving environment that feels safe, offers more protection, and provides more comfort,” and the Vision is to “continuously endeavor to become a corporation that satisfies both customers and society by pioneering the frontiers of technology and supplying optimal solutions which being ecologically minded.”

Given the prospects of the mid to long-term volume of automobile production, which is the market of our Company group, the domestic market tend to be reaching the limit due to the declining birthrate and aging society, and the demand increase coming from increased production volume can be expected in emerging ASEAN markets. In addition, the automobile industry is at a major turning point as the needs for electric vehicles and autonomous driving are increasing due to environmental regulations and advances in IT technology. Under the circumstances, in Japan, we will achieve growth by increasing added value through development of new products which respond to electric vehicles and autonomous driving such as LED headlamp modules, HD (high definition) lighting, “e-Grille”, a new lighting product to replace the conventional Radiator Grill. Meanwhile, in overseas such as ASEAN, the Company group's growth strategy is to capture the demand, including that comes from increased production volume, while taking advantage of the high level technical expertise cultivated in Japan.

Recently, the functions required for automotive parts such as those required from the progress of autonomous driving technology are becoming more diversified, and it seems that big changes will happen at a faster speed than ever before. Among them, the bipolarization of components with high added value and low cost is expected to progress further, and thus we need to speed up the pace not only for research and development of products, but also for development of manufacturing technology to strengthen cost competitiveness. On the other hand, geopolitical risks and costs to reduce the effects on the environment are increasing and is bringing more uncertainty in the business environment, therefore, expansion of financial foundation by Company's own efforts is also an important issue to be considered.

In order to carry out these growth strategies and to deal with the issues, we will maximally strengthen synergy with Valeo, which extends to the broad area such as development of advanced technology through joint research and development, utilization of the development bases in the region which has cost competitiveness, cost reduction by joint procurement, taking full advantage of scale merit, improvement of productivity by introducing advanced technologies such as automation and digitalization to factories, acquisition of additional market share in the global market by expanding our customer base and strengthening geographical mutually complementary relationship, and benefits from interest rates by utilizing loan from Valeo.

The Company announced the sale of the mirror business of the Company Group to SMR in September 2022, and are proceeding with measures to complete the business transfer. Through this sale, the Company will ① establish a basis for medium- to long-term development of the mirror business, and ② accelerate the selection and concentration on the lighting business, and will work on further strengthening the competitiveness of the lighting business in the future.

The Company selected the “Prime Market”, submitted the “Plan to meet the Listing Criteria of the new market segment” to TSE and is improving three fields of ① improvement of tradable share ratio, ②developing a governance systems, and ③efforts for sustainability over the next three years until 2024.

In particular, the criteria for the prime market regarding tradable share ratio was achieved one year ahead of the schedule.

As for improvement of governance systems, the Company revised the composition ratio of Independent Directors in the Conflict of Interest Monitoring Committee to half and appointed the Independent Director to chairman. As for Sustainability field, along with policies of the parent company, the Company aims for carbon neutral in 2050, and established the Sustainability Committee on August 2021, which is an organization for promoting sustainability and is working on carbon neutral. In addition, through enhancement of the internal control system, the company will improve compliance awareness of all people engaging in the business of our Company group to fulfill our social responsibility as a corporation by establishing and operating the internal control system to secure credibility of our financial statements, to structure the risk management system and so on.

We would appreciate your continuing support and cooperation as shareholders.

(5) Principal Accounting standard for significant income and expenses

Details of major obligations and the usual timing of satisfaction of such obligations (ordinary timing of revenue recognition) for major products related to revenue arising from contracts with customers of the Company and its consolidated subsidiaries, are as follows.

a. Automotive parts

This business mainly manufactures and sells automotive parts and the customers are domestic and overseas automotive manufacturers and automotive parts manufacturers. The Group recognizes that the main obligation is to deliver finished products to customers, and revenue from sales of such products is recognized upon delivery of each product to the customer or upon acceptance by the customer.

Revenue is measured by deducting returned goods, discounts, rebates, etc. from the consideration promised in the contract with the customer.

The consideration for the transaction was received within one year after satisfying the obligation and does not include a significant financial component.

b. Molds which are sold to the customers

Revenue from molds collected from customers over a certain period from the start of mass production based on contracts with customers is recognized on the start of mass production.

Revenue is measured by deducting returned goods, discounts, rebates, etc. from the consideration promised in the contract with the customer.

Notes to the change in accounting policy

(Application of the accounting standard for revenue recognition)

From the beginning of the consolidated accounting period for this fiscal year, “Accounting Standards for Revenue Recognition” (Corporate Accounting Standards No. 29, March 31, 2020, hereafter “Revenue Recognition Accounting Standard” ), etc., is applied and revenue is recognized at the amount expected to be received in exchange for the goods or services when control of the promised goods or services is transferred to the customer. The principal changes according to them are as follows.

Revenue recognition regarding contract to collect payment in installments for molds sold to the customers

Sales and cost of sales used to be recorded for mold-related costs collected from customers over a certain period of time from the start of mass production based on contracts with customers, but it has been changed to the method to record sales and cost of sales at the start of mass production if the certain requirements are met.

Molds for which payments were collected from customers in installments used to be recorded as fixed assets, but they are recorded as inventories until the start of mass production according to this change.

The application of Revenue Recognition Accounting Standards, etc. follows the transitional treatment stipulated in the proviso of paragraph 84 of the Revenue Recognition Accounting Standards and retained earnings at the beginning of the current fiscal year are adjusted to reflect the cumulative effect of retroactive application of new accounting policies prior to the beginning of the current fiscal year, and then the new accounting policies from the balance is applied at the beginning of the current fiscal year. As a result, the sales for the consolidated this fiscal year decreased by 2,283 million yen, cost of sales decreased by 1,636 million yen, and operating income, ordinary income and net income before income taxes and other adjustments respectively decreased by 646 million yen. In addition, the retained earnings balance in the beginning of this fiscal year increased by 1,031 million yen.

(Application of IAS 37 “Provisions, Contingent Liabilities and Contingent assets”
(Rev.May2020))

Overseas consolidated subsidiaries that apply international accounting standards have applied IAS 37 “Provisions, Contingent Liabilities and Contingent Assets” (revised in May 2020) from the beginning of the current consolidated fiscal year. In accordance with transitional measures, figures for the previous consolidated fiscal year were not restated.

The cost to fulfill contracts in onerous contracts was clarified by the amendments and the cumulative effect of the starting application of the amendments to the standard was recognized as an adjustment to the opening balance of retained earnings. As a result, the opening balance of retained earnings decreased by 98 million yen. The impact on profit and loss for the current consolidated fiscal year is negligible.

(Application of Accounting Standards, etc. for Calculation of Market Value)

We applied “Accounting Standards for Market Value Calculation” (Accounting Standards Board of Japan No. 30, July 4, 2019; hereinafter referred to as “Accounting Standard for Market Value”) from the beginning of the current consolidated fiscal year and decided to apply the new accounting policy which the Accounting Standards for Market Value stipulates in the future in accordance with the transitional provisions stipulated in the paragraph 19 of the Accounting Standards for Market Value and “Accounting Standards for Financial Instruments” (Accounting Standards Board of Japan No. 10, July 4, 2019), paragraph 44-2. There is no effect on the consolidated financial statements.

(IFRIC Agenda determination “Attribution of benefits to periods of service”(IAS No.19)

Previously, in certain overseas consolidated subsidiaries that apply international accounting standards, retirement benefit obligations were recognized according to the employee’s service period, but they applied the method of recognition according to the period in which the burden of retirement benefit obligation from the current consolidated fiscal year based on the agenda determination by IFRS

Interpretations Committee(IFRIC) “Attribution of benefits to periods of service” published in May 2021, clarified the method of recognizing retirement benefit obligations in Indonesia

As a result of recognizing the cumulative effect of the start of application of this change as an adjustment to the balance of retained earnings at the beginning of the period, the balance of retained earnings at the beginning of the current period increased by 121 million yen. The impact on profit and loss for the current consolidated fiscal year is negligible.

Notes on changes of accounting estimates

(Change in the number of years for amortization of actuarial differences in accounting for retirement benefits)

Previously, the amortization period for actuarial differences in retirement benefit accounting was 13 years but the amortization period for actuarial differences was changed to 11 years from current consolidated fiscal year because the average remaining service period of employees was shortened.

The impact of the change in the period for amortization of expenses on loss and income for current consolidated fiscal year is negligible.

Notes to Accounting Estimates

Provision for product warranties

(1) The Amount recorded on the consolidated financial statement for the current consolidated fiscal year

(Unit: Million yen)

|                                  | The Current fiscal year |
|----------------------------------|-------------------------|
| Provision for product warranties | 1,983                   |

(2) Information concerning significant accounting estimates relating to identified items

To prepare the payment for product warranties, in addition to the recording of estimates of the expected amount based on historical data, , the provisions for the product warranties for specific products that could be incurred due to market measures is recorded by the method of individual estimation when the possibility of market measures is high and when the reasonable estimation is possible. The amount of such provisions is estimated on the basis of currently available information and historical record of the quantity of repair and replacement and in consideration with the number of units subject to repair and replacement, repair and replace costs per unit, and the liability ratio determined depending on the cause of problem and, if applicable, coverage of insurance for collection costs of the products, and is recorded.

We have concluded that our estimates as assumption for condition precedent relating to the calculation of the provision for product warranties is reasonable. However, since these estimates contain uncertainty, unpredictable changes in such assumption could cause deviation in the actual product warranties from the estimate, which could lead a modification to provision for product warranties.

Notes Regarding Financial Instruments

1. Status of financial instruments

The Company group, in principle, limits their fund management to short-term deposits and funds procurement mainly by borrowings from bank and Valeo.

Regarding such customer credit risk items as notes receivables, accounts receivable and electronically recorded monetary claims, the Company seeks to reduce such risk through the management of due date and balances due for each counterparty.

Investments in securities are mostly stocks, and the fair market values of listed stocks are recorded quarterly.

Borrowings are used for working capital (mainly short-term) and capital investment (long-term).

3. Items relating to the breakdown, etc. on each level of the market values of financial instruments

The market value of financial instruments is classified into the following three levels according to the observability and materiality of the inputs used in the calculation of the market value.

Level 1 : Market value calculated from (unadjusted) quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities

Level 2 : Market value calculated using directly or indirectly observable inputs other than Level 1 inputs

Level 3: Market value calculated using significant unobservable inputs

If multiple inputs that have a significant impact on the same market value calculation are used, the market value is classified into the level with the lowest priority in the calculation of the market value among the levels to which each of these inputs belongs.

(Note)Description for valuation techniques used in the calculation of the market value and inputs related to the calculation of the market value

Investment securities

Listed stocks are valued using quoted market prices. Listed stocks are classified as Level 1 market prices because they are traded in an active market.

Long-term loan and lease obligation

These market values are calculated using the discounted present value method based on the total amount of principal and interest, the interest rate that takes into account the remaining term of the debt and credit risk, and are classified as level 2 market values.

3. Accounting for allowances/reserves

(1) Allowance for bad debts

Allowance is provided at an estimated uncollectable amount by historical loss experience with regard to receivables in general, and by collectability determined for each receivable with regard to specific receivables of questionable collectability, in order to prepare for loss on bad debt from sales receivables, loans outstanding, etc.

(2) Warranty reserve

Warranty reserve is provided at the estimated amount calculated by actual rate in the past experience with regard to products in general and, at the estimated amount individually calculated for each case with regard to certain specific products in order to prepare for the loss on the expenditure for product warranties

(3) Allowance for retirement benefits

An allowance for retirement benefits is recorded based on the projected retirement benefit payables and pension assets as of the end of the current consolidated fiscal year, in order to provide for the employees' retirement benefits.

Our method of accounting for retirement benefit allowances and retirement benefit expenses is as follows.

① Period allocation of expected retirement benefit amounts to fiscal years

In calculating retirement benefit payables, we use the benefit formula standard as the formula to allocate expected amounts of retirement benefits up through the end of this consolidated fiscal year.

② Method of expensing actuarial differences

Actuarial differences are expensed from the subsequent consolidated fiscal year in the prorated amount using a straight-line method over a number of years (11 years) that is within the average number of remaining service years of employees when incurred.

The treatment of the unrecognized actuarial differences in the non-consolidated balance sheet is different from the treatment in the consolidated balance sheet.

(4) Reserve for bonuses

The Company provided the amount to be paid in this consolidated fiscal year from the estimated amount of the bonuses to prepare for the payment of bonuses to the employees.

(5) Reserve for directors' bonuses

The Company and its consolidated domestic subsidiaries provided the estimated amount of the bonuses to be paid as of the end of the current consolidated fiscal year to prepare for the payment of bonuses to their directors and corporate auditors.

(6) Provision for Environmental Measures

The estimated amount to be paid as of the end of the current consolidated fiscal year to prepare for the expenditure for the purpose of environmental measures.

4. Accounting standard for significant income and expenses

Details of major obligations and the usual timing of satisfaction of such obligations (ordinary timing of revenue recognition) for major products related to revenue arising from contracts with customers of the Company are as follows.

a. Automotive parts

This business mainly manufactures and sells automotive parts and the customers are domestic and overseas automotive manufacturers and automotive parts manufacturers. The Group recognized that the main obligation is to deliver finished products to customers. Revenue from sales of such products is recognized upon delivery of each product to the customer or upon acceptance by the customer.

Revenue is measured by deducting returned goods, discounts, rebates, etc. from the consideration promised in the contract with the customer.

The consideration for the transaction was received within one year after satisfying the obligation and does not include a significant financial component.

b. Mold which are sold to the customers

Revenue from molds collected from customers over a certain period from the start of mass production based on contracts with customers is recognized on the start of mass production.

Revenue is measured by deducting returned goods, discounts, rebates, etc. from the consideration promised in the contract with the customer.

Notes to the change in accounting policy

(Application of the accounting standard for revenue recognition)

From the beginning of the consolidated accounting period for this business year, “Accounting Standards for Revenue Recognition” (Corporate Accounting Standards No. 29, March 31, 2020, hereafter “Revenue Recognition Accounting Standard” ), etc., is applied and revenue is recognized at the amount expected to be received in exchange for the goods or services when control of the promised goods or services is transferred to the customer. The principal changes according to them are as follows.

Revenue recognition regarding contract to collect payment in installments for molds sold to the customers

Sales and cost of sales used to be recorded for mold-related costs collected from customers over a certain period of time from the start of mass production based on contracts with customers, but it has been changed to the method to record sales and cost of sales at the start of mass production if the certain requirements are met. Molds for which payments were collected from customers in installments used to be recorded as fixed assets, but they are recorded as inventories until the start of mass production according to this change.

The application of Revenue Recognition Accounting Standards, etc. follows the transitional treatment stipulated in the proviso of paragraph 84 of the Revenue Recognition Accounting Standards and retained earnings at the beginning of the current business year are adjusted to reflect the cumulative effect of retroactive application of new accounting policies prior to the beginning of the current business year and then the new accounting policies is applied from the balance at the beginning of the current business year..

As a result, the sales for the consolidated this business year decreased by 2,283 million yen, cost of sales decreased by 1,636 million yen, and operating income, ordinary income and net income before income taxes and other adjustments respectively decreased by 646 million yen. In addition, the retained earnings balance in the beginning of this fiscal year increased by 1,031 million yen.

(Application of Accounting Standards, etc. for Calculation of Market Value)

We applied “Accounting Standards for Market Value Calculation” (Accounting Standards Board of Japan No. 30, July 4, 2019; hereinafter referred to as “Accounting Standard for Market Value”) from the beginning of the current consolidated fiscal year and decided to apply the new accounting policy which the Accounting Standards for Market Value stipulates in the future in accordance with the transitional provisions stipulated in the paragraph 19 of the Accounting Standards for Market Value and “Accounting Standards for Financial Instruments” (Accounting Standards Board of Japan No. 10, July 4, 2019), paragraph 44-2. There is no effect on the consolidated financial statements.

Notes on changes of accounting estimates

(Change in the number of years for amortization of actuarial differences in accounting for retirement benefits)

Previously, the amortization period for actuarial differences in retirement benefit accounting was 13 years but the amortization period for actuarial differences was changed to 11 years from the current business year because the average remaining service period of employees was shortened.

The impact of the change in the period for amortization of expenses on the loss and income for the current business year is negligible.

Notes to Accounting Estimates

Provision for product warranties

(1) the Amount recorded on the Non-consolidated financial statement for the current fiscal year

(Unit: Million yen)

|                                  | The Current fiscal year |
|----------------------------------|-------------------------|
| Provision for product warranties | 1,912                   |

(2) Information concerning significant accounting estimates relating to identified items

To prepare the payment for product warranties, in addition to the recording of estimates of the expected amount based on historical data, the provisions for the product warranties for specific products that could be incurred due to market measures is recorded by the method of individual estimation when the possibility of market measures is high and when the reasonable estimation is possible. The amount of such provisions is estimated on the basis of currently available information and historical record of the quantity of repair and replacement and separately calculated in consideration with the number of units subject to repair and replacement, repair and replace costs per unit, and the liability ratio determined depending on the cause of problem and, if applicable, coverage of insurance for collection costs of the products, and is recorded

We have concluded that our estimates as assumption for calculating the provision for product warranties is reasonable. However, since these estimates contain uncertainty, unpredictable changes in such assumption could cause deviation in the actual product warranties from the estimate, which could lead a modification to provision for product warranties.
